I would like to see the rest of the states back off and let Microsoft keeps on inovating in technology for our future and the generations to come. End the anti trust case once for all The states are just wasting the tax dollars and they should focus on fixing their state problem not the high tech industry. We should keep on supporting our companies in order to see that our economy gets better for everone and every American. All in all I believe that the states should go along with the goverment agreement and move on with better things than dragging it on.
